

Financial News (online)

27 September 2017

Trading Places: HSBC, Unigestion, T Rowe Price and more...

Comings and goings in the City and beyond in the week of September 25

HSBC appoints executive to asset management arm

HSBC Global Asset Management has appointed Michel Meert as global head of client solutions and consultant relations. Meert will be based in London and joins from consultancy firm PwC. He will report to Brian Heyworth, global head of client strategy.

Hamilton Lane hires to co-investment team

Private markets investor Hamilton Lane has hired Nick Kavanagh as a vice president in its co-investment and secondaries team. Kavanagh was previously a senior associate at Temasek International and has also worked at investor Pantheon Ventures.

Invenio appoints M&A specialist

Boutique investment bank Invenio Corporate Finance has appointed Matteo Turi as a partner. Turi, who is an M&A specialist, has previously held senior positions at solar company Lanco Solar, Rengen Energy, technology company K2 Partnering and payments company Vanco.

Unigestion hires two in London

Boutique asset manager Unigestion has hired two senior executives in its London office. Paul Osborne, previously of PineBridge Investments, is joining as a director of UK institutional clients. While Claire Harding, previously of Lombard Odier, has joined as co-head of consultant relations.

Lloyds strengthens risk team

Insurance and reinsurance market Lloyds has appointed Kirsten Mitchell-Wallace as head of risk aggregation. She will report in to director of performance management Jon Hancock.

Barclays hires to private banking arm

The private banking arm of Barclays Bank has appointed Jean-Christophe Gerard as global head of investments. Gerard previously worked for HSBC Private Bank in a variety of roles.

T. Rowe Price hires in the Netherlands

Asset management firm T. Rowe Price has hired Michel van Mazijk to the relationship management team in the Netherlands. Van Mazijk joins from Pioneer Global Investments in Amsterdam where he was head of Netherlands and Nordics. Prior to this he worked for Vanguard Investments Europe and ING Investment Management.

Aquila makes appointment to systematic trading group

Alternative investment firm Aquila Capital has hired Fabian Dori as an executive in its systematic trading group. Dori will work as a quantitative strategist and portfolio manager and joins from Notenstein La Roche Privatbank where he was chief investment officer.

Cowen hires managing director

Cowen Investment Management, the asset management arm of financial firm Cowen, has hired Elizabeth Flisser Rosman as a managing director and head of strategy. Rosman previously worked at private investment group Reservoir Capital Group and will be based in New York.

Gravis appoints investment consultant

Investment advisory firm Gravis Capital Management has hired former Fidelity director Charles Payne as an investment consultant. Payne, who's career spans three decades, has also previously held senior roles at UBS Asset Management and Kleinwort Benson.